

Seminars

Water Conservation

In today's era water is the most valuable commodity. The session focused on effectiveness of water conservation techniques. Various real-world case studies were discussed which highlighted the conservation techniques.

Advancement in Formwork

Current advances in the formwork were discussed by industry expert. The recent advances in the material and design of Formwork were highlighted. It was an enlightening session for the students as they are exposed to the basics of this topic in their syllabus.

How to present your research: Scientific paper writing and technical presentation

Publishing is an integral part of research which helps in further refining researcher's ideas and methodology. In this session the students were introduced to various forms of publications like technical research paper, review paper, technical report also how to present.

Career in green

The seminar was organized to create awareness amongst students about the environment and the career prospects in environmental domain. Speaker encouraged students to take up

IGBC Student Chapter Launch

The IGBC student chapter was launched in APSIT. The event made students aware of their role in making the environment green and sustainable. The session ended on the discussions of many more such interactive sessions and site visits.

