Choosing the right career path

Department of Computer Engineering organized an expert talk , “Choosing the right career path” on 21st February 2018. Mr. Sandeep Khuperkar, the CTO, Director at Ashnik was the guest of honour.

Choosing a major field of study can be a difficult decision, and today's college students are encouraged to weigh several factors before choosing an area of focus for a four-year degree program. Important major considerations include overall program cost, salary expectations, employment rates for employees in the field and advanced degree opportunities. Ultimately, students must decide which field will offer the best. With a motive to address the student concerns inclined to above Mr. Khuperkar enlightened them with versatile ideas and provided them useful guidance for the same.
