Details:

The Computer Students Association (CSA) of A.P. Shah Institute of Technology successfully organized an insightful session on "Introduction to Robotics", which was conducted by Mr. Anil Pandit, a highly accomplished IT professional with extensive experience in engineering, project management, and emerging technologies. The event witnessed active participation from students across various departments, eager to learn about the latest trends in robotics and its real-world applications.

The session commenced at 9:00 AM with a warm welcome by the host. The guest, Mr. Anil Pandit, was greeted with a tulsi sapling as a token of appreciation and respect. This was followed by a brief introduction of the speaker, highlighting his remarkable career journey, which began with a Mechanical Engineering degree from IIT Madras and evolved into leadership roles in top companies like Infosys, L&T Infotech, and Citibank.

The session concluded with a formal Vote of Thanks, delivered by a member of the CSA team. Gratitude was expressed to Mr. Anil Pandit for his valuable time and insights, the faculty members for their support, and the CSA team for their hard work in organizing the event. The students were appreciated for their active participation, and everyone left the session with a deeper understanding of robotics and inspiration to explore the field further.

The event successfully achieved its objective of introducing students to the fascinating world of robotics and inspiring them to delve deeper into emerging technologies. The positive feedback received from students highlighted the effectiveness of the session and the impact of Mr. Pandit's knowledge-sharing.

PO5 was achieved through gaining awareness of robotics and understanding the application of emerging technologies.

PO6 was strengthened through understanding the real-world applications of robotics in different areas.

PO9 was enhanced through active participation and interaction during the session.

PO10 was achieved through listening to the expert, participating in the session, and interacting in a professional learning environment.

PO12 was achieved through exploring robotics as an emerging field and gaining motivation for continuous learning.

Felicitatation of Mr. Anil Pandit
